SUKEY.

LOW-PRICED LAND.

Men buy land for home and investment. Real estate appeals. The ownership of a tract of land makes a citizen of mere man. The fact of ownership adds to his self-respect. Productive land in a health-giving region, where opportunities for making a living out of land are good, where climate is pleasant, and transportation a settled problem, there men wish to buy.

All these attractions combine in the Ozarks. That land still may be bought at a few dollars an acre will not long be true as now. Where ten years ago in certain sections farm land sold at $5 an acre, now must be paid ten times as much. While this is true, there are many sections in the Ozark region where land speculation has not come, where land values are low and where the opportunities for agriculture are large. In these sections unimproved land within easy access of town and railroad may yet be bought at prices ranging from $10 to $25 an acre. There is a steady rise in farm values in the Ozarks, as everywhere. Dwellers in older regions to the north and east, where land sells at extremely high prices, have sold small farms and bought at one-third the price or less a larger number of acres in the Ozarks.

Would like to get into communication with some one who has some cheap South Missouri Land to sell.

G. L. BARHAM, Braymer, Mo.

GIRL FROM WYOMING HERE

Miss Alberta Claire Courtesy Springfield Republican

Miss Alberta Claire, "the girl from Wyoming," who is making a 1000-mile ride through Missouri for the St. Louis Times in the interest of good roads, arrived here about noon Saturday, astride Johnny Gunn, a big old Missouri mule.

She was met and welcomed to our city by Mayor G. S. Burney, President F. H. Riley of the Young Men's Business Club, the Mansfield Concert Band, and the following horseback riders: Horace Paul and wife, S. C. Rippee, F.L. Beach, Lester Stone, Frank Hoover, Misses Maude Reynolds, Blanche and Norma Burney, Vida and Mabel Coday, Gertrude Stone, Jewell Hoover, Maud Coday and Brazer

She was promptly escorted to Young's Hotel for dinner and her steed was escorted by Lester Stone to the Hoover barn for refreshments and rest

Miss Claire left St. Louis on her cow pony, Bud, but he took sick and she was obliged to leave him on pasture near Alton. She would not give up her trip, however. Col. J.L. Torrey of Fruitville presented her with the mule and she expects to ride him into Kansas City and thence to St. Louis by a different route

Our visitor was made an honorary member of the Young Men's Business Club and, wearing the button and ribbon of the organization, she made an entertaining address before a large audience in the city park at 2 o'clock

Her home is in Sheridan, Wyo., and she has traveled about 22000 miles on horseback and muleback, this being her first experience with the latter

She spoke interestingly of her journeys over the United States, through the deserts, plains, valleys and mountains

Her dog Mickie, a combination of wolf and Newfoundland, and weighing 114 pounds, generally accompanies her, but was left in St. Louis on account of the heat.

She wears a six-shooter and a full cartridge belt, and, although she weighs only about 90 pounds she is well able to take care of herself. That pluck, bravery and persistence are strong points in her character there is no doubt. She left about 3 o'clock for Seymour

A report the previous evening that she was enroute here from Macomb caused a horseback party to make a fruitless 8-mile trip A phone message from one of the party that "she" would soon arrive caused a large crowd, including the Mansfield Concert Band, to await her coming that night, but disappointment was their lot. A statement by the one who sent the message that it was a poor joke that wouldn't work both ways was apparently satisfactory, and everybody went home happy

In the St. Louis Times Miss Claire says:

I went into Mansfield and got a reception that was dandy.

A crowd of people came out horse back to meet me. Misses Blanche and Norma Burney, the Mayor's daughters, headed the list, bringing a letter from their father. Others in the party were Misses Maude Reynolds, Vida and Mabel Coday, Jewell Hoover, Gertrude Stone, Maud Coday, Miss Brazier, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Paul, Messrs. Lester Stone, Frank Hoover, Frank Beach and S. C. Rippee

They came out about two miles and we rode into town, where Mayor Burney and Mr. F.H. Riley, president of the Y. M. B. C., were waiting for us. Here they welcomed me to the city, and it is a pretty little city. They call it the "Gem City of the Ozarks," and it truly is.

I was tagged with a badge of the Y. M. B. C. and made an honorary member. Those letters stand for Young Men's Business Club, and they are some bright hustlers.

The band was out in full force, and they play well.

The town has a fine electric light plant and it is now working on concrete curbing, after which it will put in a water system. In the center of the town is a pretty park and in it is a well of fine water, one of the noted Ozark springs. All around the park are flowers, which adds to its beauty very much—all put there by the Y. M. B. C.

They entertained me and refused to let me pay for anything. Not many people do that, so I notice it, you see.

PRAIRIE HOLLOW AND BRYANT

(Special Correspondence.)

What hot weather! There was a picnic at Bryant the 4th. A fine time was had by all

Will Starnes and Misses Eunice Lyles and Esther Starnes spent the 4th at Ava, the latter not coming back until Sunday evening

John Roy returned from Monett to spend the 4th, but unfortunately hurt his heel. We hope he will soon recover

Sunday is Rev. Robert Young's day at Prairie Hollow

There was an all day meeting at Bryant in the Huffman school house. Several ministers were there. Mr. Lincern, Ceith Lettinger and Wm. Roy and families were present. Ernest and Poly Roy went in the afternoon BLUE EYES.
